

EDMONTON LETTER

(By C. H. Stout)

Edmonton, March 17.—By no stretch of the imagination could the course of business in the legislative assembly chamber during the last week be described as sensational, with the debate on the budget draining away every afternoon, intermingled with drowsy committee discussion on numerous minor amending bills, but behind caucuses doors big and little ideas were tossed about in a manner sufficient to startle the taxpayers of the province, if the public only might be told.

The government was advised by James Hanson, Taber, first elected social credit supporter to break with Premier Aberhart on policies and cross the floor of the house, that experimental and costly steps taken thus far ought to be retraced and a start made on giving efficient and economical administration to the province, but while supreme court decisions set the government back beyond the start made in 1925, new trials certainly will not be carried out on orthodox lines, caucuses revelations indicate.

Securities taxation probably will be four percent on about everything in the way of mortgage, real estate, chattel and lien securities, instead of two percent as first proposed.

Provincial bonds and other bonds with the exception of Dominion securities also will be heavily taxed, it is stated.

Homes, both urban and rural, will be protected against foreclosure, but as far as legal houses' deed exemptions are concerned, somewhat along the lines suggested as a seasonal possibility in the weekly review some time ago.

Backbenches candidly admit that the mineral rights tax was cut in the hopes that it would not be protested in the courts and thrown out as unconstitutional. As it was originally proposed it should have returned at least $500,000 annually in new revenue. More than 16,000,000 acres are taxable and the levy applies to lands with no known minerals as it does where minerals exist. Hon. J. L. MacKay informed E. L. Gray, some time ago that a timber tax in the Acadia constituency.

Will Appeal Ottawa Ruling

Decision was also made that the three bills declared unconstitutional by the supreme court of Canada, March 4, should be carried to the Privy Council for final judgment. Government members confess there is slight hope for the Ottawa ruling being reversed but claim the Ottawa expenditure for the appeal will be justified by "having the issue finally settled." Likewise it gives several months more to carry out legislative activities without legal hindrance. Prospects of a general election have been discussed by government porters but no decision has been reached. Much probably depends upon the fate of "sensational" legislation to be dealt with this session. If it fails to get the Lieutenant governor's assent or is disallowed by Ottawa then watch for election smoke signals on Alberta hills.

Fate of the social credit board and the $100,000 vote for its activities this year, would appear to hang in the balance. Some government members, including according to rumors Premier Aberhart himself, would like to see the board abolished and plans for economic reform worked out by the cabinet and members.

James Hanson, Taber, provided a highlight last week when he spoke for the first time in the assembly, charging that had the government forgotten its ridiculous promises and endeavored to give an economical and capable administration, Albertans would have been satisfied. As it was taxation was being alarmingly increased, services to the people cut down and debt problems tinkered with on credit for farmers had been ruined.

A SONG OF SPRING

When, on a day, the earth begins To deck her breast with lovely things, When birds return and bees awake, And sleepy animals forsake

Their drowsome den for light and air, And my heart sings that life is fair, I speak my words of greeting, saying: Changing their forms against the sky When little boys and merry shout Carry their staves and scamper out Across the fields from den to den To catch the wary gopher, then I know full well that winter's past And spring, sweet spring, is here to last.

WHAT THINK YOU ?

The bright suggestion has been made that the public should be educated how to address a letter. It is pointed out that the first thing postal officials look for in a letter is the principal place of destination—then the number of house and the street and, finally the name of the addressee—for instance:

T O R O N T O,
690 Young Street,
Mr. Robert P. Jones.

With letters sent to foreign countries, the name of the country should come first. We should be interested in learning the Postmaster General's opinion of the suggestion.

Try forming 5 different 4-letter words from the following 8 letters, using all 5 letters in each word "E I N R S" and two words from the letters C E D E R S E. We'll give you the words next week.

COL. S. T. WOOD NEW HEAD OF R. C. M. P.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. L. G. Storage
Director "Crop Testing Plan"

"The United States" Government has decided to release 100 million dollars' worth of gold over three months from the vaults where it has been 'sterilized,' so as to permit the yellow metal to expand the credit base of the United States.

This is important news indeed, for it means that the vast hoard of gold which has been stored in the vaults of the United States since 1923 will, at last, be permitted to make its weight felt in raising commodity prices.

As compared with 1914-15, the currencies of the United States, Canada and Great Britain have been inflated by 68 per cent, and since 1932 the world's production of gold has been about 40 per cent greater each year than previously.

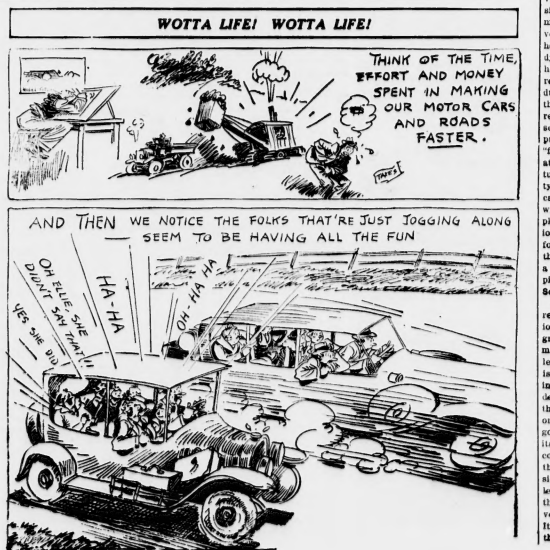

These factors, separately and together, tend greatly to increase the price of all commodities, for gold and money are the yardsticks which measure prices. If money, therefore, is as soon as the existing governmental restraints on the full use of gold and credit are removed, then all prices, and so the cost of living and production, will tend to rise by 40 per cent or more as compared with pre-war prices.

Commodity prices no far have only risen by 25 per cent, and cost of living by 36 per cent, World wheat at Liverpool, and Chicago wheat prices, are still merely at pre-war levels.

WE PIONEERED
PLAINS
 TOGETHER

Accompanying the pioneers were the men bent on lending assistance by providing specially designed implements and machines—the only means to enable the taming of these wild acres.

Before the first transcontinental railway had traversed the New West, implements of the Harris Company had found their way to the plains. Then in 1879 a distributing branch was set up in Winnipeg. Even in that far off place, the Company opened up business in 1883, when the only communication was by boat from Selkirk. And when, in 1884, the Canadian Pacific reached as far west as Troy, now Qu'Appelle, the Company's machines were shipped from there to Prince Albert, 300 miles away, in Red River carts.

By experimenting under the different and difficult field conditions of the Canadian West, the Company has developed and introduced from time to time, equipment which has enabled the farmer to meet successfully the exacting demands of Western farming, and make his operations profitable.

The providing of exceptionally liberal credit in the early days was appreciated by the pioneer with limited capital at his disposal; and the consideration extended at all times to the farmer in difficulties has gained for the Company an enviable reputation.

As a Canadian company, Massey-Harris is happy to have had this part in pioneering the plains, and regards seriously the responsibility its position in Western agriculture places upon it.

REVIEW OF FRAZER HUNT'S NEW BOOK 'ONE AMERICAN'

Round the World, in Thick of Revelations, Interviewer of Statesmen, Comrade of Freedom.

Quite a number of people in this district are now engaged in reading "Spike" Hunt's new book "One American." A great many others will want to read it partly because the writer is part time resident of this community, and partly because the book of itself is delightful reading.

Harold Long of the Lethbridge Herald has given a recent review from which the Times is taking the liberty of quoting.

"If you would care to travel round the world about three times in 24 hours, meet half the world's notables, catch a glimpse of a dozen revolutions bloodless and otherwise, and wind up somewhat bewildered, get aboard Fraser Hunt's new book just off the Simon and Schuster press."

"Here in Alberta we call Fraser 'Spike' Hunt our very own because Alberta foothills are his adopted land. He's about the best recommendation we know for Alberta, for he's the most travelled American, and he has chosen Alberta for his ranching and his writing. His Eden Valley ranch along the upper reaches of Highwood River west of the town of High River doesn't belie the name. He bought it about a dozen years ago because he fell in love with it at first sight, and never a year goes by but he spends several months there, the major domo of all he surveys."

"Fraser Hunt is a restless soul with a restless philosophy. He says he's just 'a country boy trying to get along' here in Illinois, educated in Indiana, Michigan and Illinois and the world in general."

Mr Hunt still has in his makeup the solid, sturdy background of the Mid West at the end of the horse and buggy days. There was no unemployment there where he was brought up. Everybody seemed to have enough to eat and to wear, and he has never been able to understand why the world has become so much the millions must go idle. He sympathizes, as a result, with the revolutionists everywhere who want land and liberty.

"Alberta's rancher-reporter-author-adventurer in the far places has slept in Russian hotels, hundreds of miles down the Dvina in Russia, hundreds of miles by sleigh into the interior of Siberia; he has shot crabs with the then Prince of Wales in his rustic kitchen at Peking, dined with Madame Kai Shek, called on the Emperor of Manchoukuo; interviewed Kagawa, Calvin Coolidge with whom he went to a ball game, Queen Marie of Rumania, Lenin and Litvinov, Helen Keller and Frank D. Roosevelt—these are but a few of the many. He hasn't much use for diplomats and older statesmen with little hardening of the senses; he has out at British diplomacy and imperialism and comes right back to rap his own country."

"It's four hundred pages of a book. The New York Times gave it the honor of almost a full page in its book review section recently. It's packed with pathos and humor, adventure and philosophy."

"It's a gripping book, one that will make you think, one that will impress on you how little most of us know of places and people who make up the world. The fact that much of it was written along the banks of the Highwood here in Alberta give us a special interest in it."

"One American—And His Attempt at Education."—Simon and Schuster, New York, 400 pages, $3.00.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. WALTER D. MACLEAN

Funeral services for the late Helen D. MacLean were held from the Park Memorial Home Friday, March 11th at 2 p.m. with burial taking place in the family plot, Calgary.

The quietly impressive service was read by Mr. A. Kennedy.

The Pall Bearers were Messrs M. Johnston, P. N. Woodward, Havelock Trappier, S. Snyder, V. Lord and A. Gill.

The beautiful solo, so sympathetically rendered by Mrs. M. Kirkpatrick was a favorite hymn of Mrs. MacLean's. Following are the words.

"Onward Christian, though th' region Where thou art seem drear and lone; God hath set a guardian legion Very near thee, press thou on."

By the Christ road, and none other Is the mount of vision won. Tread it with rejoicing brother; Jesus trod it, press thou on.
 —Samuel Johnston

NIGHTINGALE

Mrs. Chas. Kimmitt has received word from Gene Kimmitt of Nordberg. We are glad to hear that they are settled comfortably in their new home.

Nightingale Juniors gathered at the Joel lake last Wednesday to enjoy a skating party given as a farewell to Albert Anderson, from north of Calgary, who has been visiting with the Larsons for the past week. Coffee, cake and sandwiches were served by 14 young ladies and all reported a good time.

Mrs. Hartman has been suffering for the past two weeks with Lumbago.

A farewell party was given Mr. and Mrs. Payne and family at their home on Friday. The Paynes are leaving this district to live at the farm the Mayas are leaving. We all hope they like their new surroundings.

Volunteers have been working on the hall here for a week now, wallpapering and carpentering. It has been improved a great deal.

The W. I. met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Otte on Friday. Eleven members were present and one visitor. Arrangements were made for a community supper in the hall Friday 18th. After the business of the day a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Edith Dawson has been visiting for a few days at the Joel farm.
